

5 Additional Gates Close on Berliners

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communists slammed five more gates to East Berlin shut to Westerners today and segregated traffic from West Berlin into three channels.

Streets openings in the barbed wire and stone barricade the Reds have strung along the 25-mile border through the city were reduced from 12 to 7. Four openings were restricted to West Berliners, 13,000 of whom cross into East Berlin daily to work. Two more were set aside for West Germans. Foreigners, including soldiers and diplomats of the Western allies, were told to use a seventh, at the corner of Friedrichstrasse and Innerstrasse, a block from the old German headquarters.

The Communists repeated their week-old announcement that West Berliners would have to have special permits to enter the Eastern zone. But those commuting to work this morning were still allowed to pass the barricades with only cards showing they had jobs in the East.

Permits have been requested for West Germans since last year.

East-West elevated and subway trains across the border operated as usual, but the only passengers appeared to be commuters with jobs in the East. The Communists, who control the city-wide system, since Aug. 13 have cut off all the trains through the Friedrichstrasse station where identification of all passengers is checked.

A spokesman for the West Berlin city government said the new restrictions violated the four-power status of Berlin in the most flagrant way. The United States, Britain and France were expected to make a new protest to the Soviets, and the Soviets were certain to reject it.

The Communists said the new rules, which took effect a minute after midnight, would remain in force until a peace treaty is signed.

The East German Interior Ministry said the restrictions were prompted by "the numerous provocations which have taken place in recent days on the instigation of West Berlin authorities and especially the mayor of West Berlin (Willy) Brandt against citizens and institutions of the capital of the (East) German Democratic Republic."

Prior to Aug. 13 there were 80 street crossing points available to all on the 25-mile border between East and West Berlin. On that date the Communists banned East German travel across the border, but left 13 street crossings open to West Berliners, West Germans with permits and foreigners. One more crossing, Brandenburg Gate, was closed on Aug. 14 after angry demonstrations by West Germans in front of it.

The new Communist restrictions came two days after U. S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's morale-boosting trip to West Berlin and only hours after West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer toured the East German barricades.

Ignoring jeers from the Reds, Adenauer expressed gratitude for Johnson's visit and the reinforcement of the city's Western garrison but called for more pressure on the Soviets.

"I think one should go further than what has been done so far," he said.

Adenauer again recommended that the West use its economic power to pressure the Communists but was not specific about how to use it. Last week he advocated a complete break in East-West trade but backed down when the Communists threatened to cut off Western trade with West Berlin.

There was no immediate reaction from the Western allies to the new Communist move. U. S. sources in Washington said any response would be coordinated among the allies.

Shoptlifting, Hot Checks Discussed

L. C. Baber, Managing Director of Arkansas Council of Retail Merchants, was the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of Hope's retailers last night.

Law enforcement officers, city government representatives, and Hope's retailers were guests of Hope Retail Promotion Association to hear Mr. Baber discuss Arkansas' shoptlifting and hot check laws.

Shoptlifting and hot checks are plaguing retailers all over the country, including Arkansas and Hope. Recognizing these problems, the Arkansas Legislature has passed laws that are rather stringent in their application, yet offer protection to the retailers of our state, he said.

Mr. Baber outlined a plan, using these statutes, for combating the two problems on a local level. Law enforcement agencies present endorsed the plan and offered suggestions to help make it work as well as offering their wholehearted assistance in curbing these two offenses.

AEA Takes Dim View of Legislature

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus got in a plug for a super board of control for the University of Arkansas and the seven-supported colleges in a television appearance Tuesday night.

And the Arkansas Education Association indicated trouble for some of the other items Faubus included in his formal call for a special fiscal session of the state legislature which convenes Thursday.

Faubus issued the legislative call Tuesday and said among other things that he had included the proposal for an overall board of control for the state's institutions of higher learning only because the Legislative Council had recommended it be included.

He has no personal interest in the plan, Faubus said.

But he took a somewhat different tack in an interview on a Little Rock television station Tuesday night.

He plugged statements by those who favor such a board that it would make for more efficient operation of the colleges.

Most Arkansas college officials are opposed to an overall board of control and the regular 1961 legislature rejected such a plan.

The AEA threat of opposition to some of the items included in the governor's call came in the form of a prepared statement from

Arkansas Buys Anti-Red Film

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three copies of the film "Challenge of Ideas," produced by the Defense Department's Armed Forces Information and Education Office, have been ordered for use in junior and senior high schools in Arkansas, Education Commissioner Arch W. Ford said the film would be a "welcome addition" to the Education Department's library, which also contains the controversial film "Operation Abolition," which depicts student riots during a House Un-American Activities Committee hearing.

Reuther to Snug Big 3 for Rambler

By DWIGHT PITKIN

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, is snubbing the Big Three car makers and courting Little American Motors Corp. in the home stretch of labor contract negotiations in the auto industry.

His strategy appeared today to be to persuade American Motors to improve on its profit-sharing offer, make a quick settlement with AMC and then use it to pry out from General Motors, Ford and Chrysler something better than they offered Tuesday.

Reuther called the Big Three offers—identical except in minor details—"woefully inadequate."

GM, Ford and Chrysler offered a minimum 21-cent hourly increase in wages over the next three years and fringe benefit improvements which the union said would only cost the companies a cent an hour. The companies said the fringe benefit costs would be substantial.

Auto workers now average $2.40 an hour plus fringe benefits of between 35 and 40 cents.

Present contracts at the Big Three expire eight days hence. The AMC contract runs out a week later.

The Big Three rejected Reuther's profit-sharing proposal in 1958 negotiations. Reuther did not revive it this year. Instead, he made salaries for hourly workers and a shorter work week key goals.

AMC surprised the union last month with a proposal to give workers a 10 per cent cut of profits before taxes after deducting 10 per cent of the company's net worth for stockholders. AMC offered a seven-cent hourly wage increase annually over the next three years. But it asked the union to scrap cost-of-living increases and annual improvement factor wage increases of 2 1/2 per cent.

The company figures its net worth for stockholders at $220 million and 10 per cent of this would be $22 million.

The Big Three offered to renew the 2 1/2 per cent annual improvement factor and the cost-of-living escalator in present contracts. But they proposed limiting cost-of-living increases over the next three years to a total of six cents.

In the past three years UAW members have accumulated cost-of-living increases totaling seven cents.

Peck, president of the Pioneer Washington Restoration Foundation, and Mrs. Peck. James H. Pilkinton was the feature speaker.

After the luncheon the group toured Arkla Village.

Allies Move Up Tanks, Gls in Berlin

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—The three Western Allies pushed tanks and infantry up to the sector border dividing Berlin today in the face of new Communist restrictions on traffic between the East and West parts of the city.

"The commandants are taking the necessary action to insure the security and integrity of the sector border," said a spokesman for the U.S., British and French commandants.

Patton tanks from the U.S. Army appeared at the Friedrichstrasse crossing point, which the East German Communists now insist must be used by all foreigners going into East Berlin.

For the first time since the tanks set up barricades 10 days ago to halt the flow of refugees, the East German regime was telling Americans and other Westerners where they could and could not enter East Berlin. Western officials condemned the restrictions as illegal affronts.

The East German regime overnight had shut five more gates to East Berlin.

The Western Allies responded within a few hours, sending forces right up to the sector borders. Within minutes the Communists brought up reinforcements on their side of the wall of barbed wire and concrete they have erected to strangle free movement in the city.

West German border police said they saw armored personnel carriers packed with Communist people's police—who are armed as infantry—move up to positions facing the Allied troops.

The Communists threatened to cut West Berlin's rail links with the West.

West Berlin trade unionists have been picketing the Communist-run elevated stations in West Berlin, and claim they have greatly reduced the number of passengers — and Communist revenue. They have carried such placards as "Don't buy your own barbed wire."

A statement by the Western military commandants on the new restrictions said the three Western commandants "take a most serious view of the affronts of the East German authorities in warning citizens of West Berlin to keep at a distance of 320 feet from the sector border, a border which the Communists themselves have violated on numerous occasions in the last few days. The commandants are taking the necessary action to insure the security and integrity of the sector border."

The British sent a company of Greenjackets—King's Royal Rifle Corps—to the Brandenburg Gate. The company deployed in the bushes on the Western side of the gate, which has been shut to traffic.

AEA Takes

Forrest Rozzell, the association's executive secretary.

"The AEA will aggressively, persistently and unrelentingly oppose every appropriation which bears a pork barrel label," Rozzell said.

Rozzell, who has engaged in verbal exchanges with Faubus times in the past, was annoyed because the governor failed to include in his legislative programming a $2 million item for teacher salary.

Such a bonus was included in the omnibus act, which was declared unconstitutional by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Rozzell charged that Faubus "worded his call in such a way as to deny the members of the General Assembly the right to even consider such an appropriation." He referred to it as a "cowardly act by a petty tyrant." Rozzell said the AEA did not agree that municipal aid; a new district and county fairs and state district and county fairs, and state police salaries — among items in the legislative call — are more important than teacher salaries. If the legislature uses existing surplus funds for established urgent need, Rozzell added, the AEA would have no objection to the exclusion of the teacher bonus.

But he said there is nothing to prove that some of the items included in the call are more urgent than the need for an increase in teacher pay.

Major task of the lawmakers will be to provide construction funds for the state's colleges and other agencies. The legislative call did not list specific amounts but Faubus estimated overall cost of the proposed program at $22 million.

The special session was necessitated by voter defeat of a proposed $80 million bond proposal and the invalidating of the omnibus act.

There has been some speculation the session might last two weeks or more, Faubus told newsmen he did not think it could last more than 15 days.

But he left open the possibility that he might call still another special session '8 to deal with the controversy over congressional redistricting.

A redistricting act passed by the regular 1961 legislature has been referred to a popular vote at the November, 1962, general election. Unless some action is taken before then, candidates for the national House of Representatives would have to run from the state at large in the 1962 election.

Redistricting was made necessary by the state's loss of population between 1950 and 1960 — with the state losing two of its present six representatives.

The special session will convene at 11:30 a.m. Thursday and Faubus will address a joint session about an hour later. Little Rock and Fort Smith television stations will carry the Faubus address. An El Dorado television station is also expected to carry the speech.

Shreveport Has Best Reliever

By VERNON BUTLER Associated Press Sports Writer

They can trot out the badge any day now naming Dave Wickersham as the best relief pitcher in the top of the 10th inning for as the Shreveport Sports are concerned.

The favorite fireman of the Sports rendered an almost perfect performance Tuesday night when he blanked Nashville for 3 1/2 innings. He issued one walk, but he held the Vols hitless and was rewarded with his 13th victory when the Sports scored six runs in the top of the 10th inning for an 8-2 triumph. It lifted Shreveport into sixth place ahead of the Vols.

Macon continued to torment league leading Birmingham. The Peaches swatted the Barons 9-6 for their second straight victory and cut Birmingham's lead to a game and a half over rain-idled Chattanooga. Atlanta whipped last place Mobile 5-2. Chattanooga and Little Rock were rained out.

Wickersham replaced tiring southpaw Al Grunwald in the seventh inning with the score tied at 2-2 and slammed the door on Nashville. The Sports assaulted Bruce Swange, ace fireman of the Vols for three hits and three walks in the 10th. Nashville's two runs came in the sixth inning when Bob Meisner hit his 20th homer with Rod Kanehl on base. Wickersham scored the decisive run on a squeeze bunt by Tony Frullo with the bases loaded.

Pat Duke, former Auburn star, hit a homer with the bases loaded for Birmingham in the fourth inning, but that was the last hit for the Barons, who have dropped two in a row to Macon. The Peaches were ahead 8-1 when Dukes wallop narrowed the margin.

Birmingham threatened in the ninth without a hit when winner Don Gross walked three batters with nobody out. Reliever Phil Clark put out the fire with only one run scoring.

Lane Fired as Manager of K. C. A's

BY FRANK CRAWFORD
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Frank Lane, baseball's most talkative figure was bounced out of his job Tuesday as general manager of the Kansas City Athletics by owner Charles O. Finley, who accused Lane of spreading false rumors about the club.

"It's a great relief," Lane told a newsman today. "I knew it was coming."

Finley said one of the rumors Lane started was that the A's, mired in tenth place in the American League, might be shifted to Dallas-Fort Worth as reported in the Kansas City Star last week. Finley denied he planned to move the club and charged two Star baseball writers, who criticized him, with accepting payola from a former clubowner, the late Arnold Johnson. The newspaper and two writers, sports editor Ernest Mehl and baseball reporter Joe McGuff, who denied the charges.

"Lane spread rumors all over the United States and wherever I went and read a newspaper I could see nothing but poison, and that he had left behind," Finley said in announcing Lane's dismissal at a news conference in his Chicago insurance office.

Bolt Suspension May Be Lifted

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Tommy Bolt was scheduled to appear before the Professional Golfers Association's committee today to determine whether his current suspension would be lifted.

The suspension was handed down after the PGA Championship Tournament in Chicago three weeks ago. It was alleged Bolt used off-color language in the presence of club members at Olympia Fields.

He appointed Pat Friday, 37, a vice president of the club and an official in his insurance business, to succeed Lane.

Lane, who came here from the Cleveland Indians, also has served as general manager with the Chicago White Sox and the St. Louis Cardinals. Always a fast-talking free-wheeling trader of baseball players, he had a four-year contract. Finley said he would be paid off on the remaining three years at $50,000 a year.

Lane commented, "It was an absolutely hopeless situation as far as I was concerned. Those who I feel sorry for are the baseball fans of Kansas City for having to put up with such an operation as this."

Lane said he had no immediate plans but that he would very much like to have the job as general manager of the Chicago White Sox if Hank Greenberg vacates the post at the end of the season.

Finley, who bought the club last winter by outbidding a Kansas City group, hired Lane last January and called him the "greatest general manager in the game."

Tuesday night he bitterly described Lane as a failure with the Athletics.

"In my book a general manager is not only a man who can make a trade over the phone—any damned fool can do that—but he must be able to oversee everything. Lane did not do this and these other responsibilities fell with Friday and myself," Finley said.

"I was forced to let Joe Gordon go as manager because it was impossible for him and Lane to work together," he continued. Finley fired Gordon June 19 and replaced him with Hank Bauer, then an outfielder with the club.

"If I had known then what I know now, Gordon's still would be my manager."

Maris Hits 50th, But Yanks Lose

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

One home run every 10.09 at-bats will do it.

That's the pace Roger Maris has kept through the next 30 games to break Babe Ruth's home run record after hitting his 50th Tuesday night as the New York Yankees lost 4-3 at Los Angeles.

With his two-run, sixth-inning shot off right-hander Ken McBride, Maris went 13 games ahead of Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927. The young slugger now needs only 11 more in the Yankees' next 30 games to break the Babe's record within the official limit of 154 team decisions set by Commissioner Ford Frick.

In 124 games this season, Roger has been at bat 455 times for an average of 3.7 a game. Assuming he can avoid bases on balls, Maris would have 111 at-bats in those 30 games, averaging out to one home run every 10.09 at-bats. His 50 home runs in 455 at-bats figures out at one every 9.1 at-bat. If the figures don't lie, Maris can waste an extra at-bat between home runs the rest of the way.

Teammate Mickey Mantle, who failed to connect as the Angels shaved the Yankees' American League lead over second-place Detroit to two games, has 46 homers. Based on the same projection formula used for Maris, the Mick would have to hit a home run every seven at-bats to get the 19 he needs to top Ruth. So far, Mantle has hit one every 9.2 at-bats.

The Tigers closed in on the Yankees by winning their fifth in a row, 8-1, at Cleveland. Third-place Baltimore lost 3-2 in 10 innings at Kansas City, the Chicago White Sox took over fourth place by beating Minnesota 4-3, and Boston defeated Washington 3-2 in 11 innings.

In the National League, third-place San Francisco stayed hot and swept a two-night pair from Cincinnati 12-2 and 5-3. That trimmed the Reds' lead over Los Angeles to 2½ games, although the Dodgers dropped their eighth in a row, 5-4 at St. Louis. Pittsburgh whipped Milwaukee 4-1 and the Philadelphia Phillies rapped the Chicago Cubs 6-0.

Maris' home run, a 420 foot drive over the center field fence—the only deep section in cozy Wrigley Field—was his second in the seven games at the Angels' park and ruined a shutout by McBride, who finally won his 10th on the eighth try. Yogi Berra hit a ninth-inning home run for the other Yank run.

Billy Cannon Finds Touch as a Pro

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Billy Cannon, the all-anything who looked like a flop for a while last season, has found his feet in professional football.

Cannon is off to a start this year that far surpasses his rookie season with the Houston Oilers of the American Football League.

The former Louisiana State All-America has gained almost triple the yardage he gained in the five preseason games of 1960. Houston has played only three exhibition games so far this year.

Great things were expected from the Heisman Trophy winner after he signed with the Oilers for a reported $100,000 but he became another player.

Cannon has carried the ball 34 times for 223 yards and a 6.6 average in Houston's three exhibition games. In Houston's preseason schedule last year, Cannon carried the ball 29 times for 86 yards—a 3-yard average.

The Angels, tying Minnesota for seventh place, ripped into Bill Stafford (10-7) for three runs in the first inning on a leadoff triple by Albie Pearson and consecutive home runs by Lee Thomas and Leon Wagner. Earl Averill tagged reliever Luis Arroyo for a homer in the eighth for the final run.

Detroit also did it with homers, two-run shots by Rocky Colavito, Billy Bruton and Al Kaline that backed a five-hit pitching job by Paul Foytack (8-8). Jim Grant (12-7) was the loser.

Nellie Fox drove in the tying run with a sacrifice fly in the seventh inning and then won it for the White Sox when he singled with two out in the ninth against Pedro Ramos (9-15). Don Larson (4-1) was the winner with 5-1-3 innings of four-hit, shutout relief.

Marv Throneberry's two-run pinch homer in the eighth broke up a three-hit shutout for A's starter Norm Bass and gave the Orioles a tie, but Milt Pappas (9-7) wild-pitched the winning run home in the 10th. Bill Fischer (4-2) was the winner in relief.

A two-out walk to Jackie Jensen on a 3-2 pitch with the bases loaded forced in the Red Sox' winner and beat Bennie Daniels (8-7). Mike Fornieles (7-8) was the winning pitcher in relief.

Giants Mow Down Reds in Twin Bill

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Do the San Francisco Giants have "The Little Miracle of Frisco Bay" in mind as a sequel to "The Little Miracle of Coogan's Bluff" which they staged back in New York 10 years ago?

That off-Broadway success of 1951 had them coming from 13½ games behind on August 11, mauling a tie on the final day of the season and whipping the then Brooklyn Dodgers in a playoff for the National League flag.

At the moment, after slouching in third place, 8½ games from the top on August 11, the Giants suddenly have perked up, winning 9 of 11 and 5 in a row with a sweeping, 12-2 and 5-3 double-header success over first-place Cincinnati Tuesday night. That jumped the Giants within 5 games of the Reds, who have lost 3 in a row for the first time in a month.

Half-way between Cincinnati and San Francisco stand the Los Angeles Dodgers, who are 2½ games back of the Reds after losing 5-4 at St. Louis. It was the Dodgers' eighth consecutive defeat—their longest skid since 1948.

Pittsburgh rapped Milwaukee 4-1 and last-place Philadelphia dropped the Chicago Cubs 6-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Art Mahaffey.

In the American League, Roger Maris hit his 50th home run, going 13 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927, but the New York Yankees lost 4-3 at Los Angeles. Second-place Detroit closed within two games of the Yanks by drubbing Cleveland 8-1. Kansas City beat Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings, the Chicago White Sox defeated Minnesota 4-3 and Boston beat Washington 3-2 in 11 innings.

Willie Mays, the lone holdover from the Giants' miracle men of 1951, set the pace with five hits in the opener at Cincinnati, one a two-run homer, and then clinched the sweep with his 33rd home run, a two-run shot in the sixth inning of the second game. Willie McCovey belted a pair of solo home runs in the first game as the Giants collected 20 hits, and Orlando Cepeda, who drove in two runs in the opener, socked his 35th home run in the nightcap.

Southpaw Mike McCormick (10-12), the Giants' only loser in their last 14 games, got into the swing with an eight-hit job against the Reds in the opener. Sam Jones (8-7) won the nightcap, but needed Stu Miller's relief when Jerry Lynch hit a three-run homer that broke up Sad Sam's three-hit shutout in the sixth inning. Bob Purkey (14-8) and Ken Johnson (4-2) were the losers.

The Cardinals twice blew leads against the Dodgers, then put it away on a two-out error by Charlie Neal in the ninth inning. The Dodgers had tied it 4-4 in their ninth on singles by Junior Gilliam, Duke Snider and Wally Moon—a trio that figured in all their scoring. Lindy McDaniel (9-5) was the winner and Dick Farrell (7-6) the loser, both in relief.

A two-run triple by Bill Mazeroski triggered a three-run second inning for the Pirates, who had lost seven in a row to the Braves. Bob Buhl (9-9) was the loser while Joe Gibson (9-8) won it with relief from Elroy Face.

Mahaffey (8-17), a 23-year-old right-hander who had lost 10 in a row since June 25, gave up the Cubs' lone hit when Ron Santo singled with one out in the first inning. Ed Bouchee and Billy Williams were the only other Cubs to reach base, both on walks, in the third and the eighth. The Phils, winning their second in a row after a record 23 consecutive losses, beat Dick Ellsworth (7-8) with a third-inning run on a single by Clay Dalrymple and a double by Tony Taylor.

Bobcats Look Sharp, Says Coach Pierce

By Jimmy Jones Jr.
After three days of practice head coach John Pierce says the Bobcat offense is looking sharp and with the addition of several plays it will be in top form.

Pierce has been pleased by the performance of the backfield and the offensive linemen in the practice sessions during the past three days. He cited Tony McLarty, Sr., quarterback and David Porterfield, Jr., halfback, after yesterday's session. Pierce also mentioned a newcomer, Maurice Sullivan, as a standout in yesterday's practice.

"The boys have a lot of spirit and hustle this year. They look like the type of boys who want to win. But they have to be tough. The district is loaded with top teams this year," Pierce said.

Although the Bobcats have been working mainly on offense this week, Pierce said that the defense has improved. Pierce listed James Marcum, defensive end, Jerry Goad, left tackle, Joe Mason, defensive end, J. C. May and Guy Watkins, guards, as standouts.

The Bobcats have 3 lettermen on the 1961 squad. The lettermen are Billy Compton, end, Tommy Roberts, end; Kendall Yocom, tackle; Charles Baggs, guard; Guy Watkins, guard; Charles Hayler, tackle; Ray Easton, end; Tony McLarty and Earl Ray Murphy, quarterbacks; Roy Wray fullback; David Porterfield, halfback; Charles Dudley, fullback and John Crain, halfback.

Chrysler to Cancel Union Deal

DETROIT (AP)—With contract offers yet to be made by any of the Big Three auto companies, Chrysler Corp. was expected to tell the United Auto Workers Union today that it is canceling their contract in 10 days.

Contracts between the UAW and Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. already are set to expire in 10 days — on Aug. 31. Chrysler's contract, which runs out the same day, stipulates that either party give 10 days notice of cancellation.

In the past contracts have been extended on occasion even after cancellation notice has been served.

The Big Three automakers are expected to make their wage offers sometime this week.

The union is expected Tuesday to turn down the only settlement offer it has received so far.

The offer—from American Motors Corp. — includes the union's No. 1 goal from 1958 bargaining: profit-sharing. But the UAW says AMC's offer does not go far enough.

AMC presented its take-it-or-leave-it package to the union July 28. It proposed to share 10 per cent of its profits, after taking the first 10 per cent for stockholders. It also offered a seven-cent hourly pay increase annually over the next three years.

The firm demanded that all fringe benefits be frozen at present levels and that automatic wage increases built into current pacts be eliminated.

In 1958, Reuther asked as the union's "fair share" 25 per cent of the profits left after 10 per cent was set aside for stockholders. He demanded that customers also get 25 per cent in the form of rebates and stockholders would get the rest.

In a weekend news conference, Reuther said the UAW will not ease demands on Chrysler, which lost $15.7 million in the first half of this year.

Reuther said Chrysler's troubles

Kingsville, Texas, after spending two weeks with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. George Collins.

Mrs. Ched Hall of Batesville is visiting Mrs. Albert Jewell.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Kent and Cyril have returned from Nashville, Tenn. where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Jud Thornton last week.

Mrs. Sally Hines of Fayetteville and Linda and Larry Olsen of Conway visited Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stewart.

Jerry O'Neal has gone to the National Order of the Arrow Boy Scout Convention at the University of Indiana in Bloomington, Indiana. He was accompanied by Scouts from Nashville, DeQuen and Texarkana and he is serving as their counselor. O'Neal recently received a National Order of the Arrow award for service rendered to the scouting movement. Mrs. Robert Lewis Rumbo

Miss Gladys Evelyn McGhee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David A. McGhee Jr., of Texarkana, and formerly of Hope, became the bride of Robert Lewis Rumbo, son of Rev. and Mrs. Lewis Rumbo of Maud, Texas in an impressive ceremony Saturday evening, Aug. 5 at the First Methodist Church in Texarkana.

The groom's father, Rev. Rumbo and Dr. Arthur Terry, pastor, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before an altar setting featuring twin sunburst arrangements of white gladioli placed in front of seven branches of candelabra holding burning tapers. The couple knelt on a white satin prie die for the benediction "The Lord's Prayer."

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. William Journey Jr., who accompanied the soloist, A. L. Crawford, John David McGhee, brother of the bride and William Creighton Holly of Stuttgart, lighted tapers prior to tea service and served as ushers.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of silk organza. The sleeves lapped to points over the hands and the bouffant skirt was enhanced with applique motifs embroidered with sequins and seed pearls. The chapel length veil was attached to a lace tulle embroidery with seed pearls and sequins. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls and matching earrings.

Her cascade bouquet was fashioned of white pom poms and mums centered with a yellow throat orchid.

Miss Barbara Ann Alexander attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Donna Rumbos of Dallas, sister of the groom and Miss Margaret Ann Looney.

Donald Rumbo of Lubbock, the groom's cousin, served as best man. Groomsman were Bobby Joe Pair of Maud and Mike Hooker.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor.

For a wedding trip to Hot Springs the bride wore a transitional suit of navy blue featuring a boxy jacket with bracelet length sleeves. Her accessories were patent leather and she pinned the orchid from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder.

This Time the Woman Is a Cradle Snatcher

By HELEN ORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Our marriage got off to a wrong start, hence this letter. My husband is the proverbial clam. We live with our folks. I didn't like the idea any more than he, but it was the only way for if we were ever to pay off his debts. To pull out of the quicksand he signed up for a job with long hours; nine to nine, then began staying out till midnight and finally, didn't come home at all.

were caused by "incompetence in depth in that company" and that the UAW didn't propose to "subsidize incompetence through standard wages for workers."

Now, I've filed for divorce because he wants it. There is another woman. It's a cradle-snatching job on her part, he's only 23, she, a widow with a 10-year-old son. I made a fool of myself by begging him to come back, for I love him no matter what he's done. She had the audacity to phone me that if I was to hard on him they would leave town. Should I keep on trying to get him back, or give up? —Love-sick.

Dear Lovesick: Your husband doesn't sound worth getting back, unless he acts his age. On the basis of what you reveal, get the divorce, chalk these three years up to experience and begin a new life with your children. Be governed by what is best for them. Can their father support them? If not, could your parents, or his, care for them while you job-hunt? Look before you leap. Your husband evidently did not.

Dear Helen: I am a 14-year-old boy with a 7-year-old sister who often makes me wonder what I've done to deserve her, yet at times she can be an angel. Our Mom and Dad love us and each other. With the exception of Sister we are a happy family. She gets anything she wants, except her way with me. If I ask her to do the least thing she resists like a young wild cat. Mom and Dad say "She's only a baby and doesn't know any better." But by seven, shouldn't she know better? —Helpless Brother.

Dear Helpless Brother: Yes, even though only seven, little Sis-

Here's Dog Who Ate His Own Dish

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Remember the story about the dog who dines on delicacies like old shoes, rope, ballpoint pens and teapot spouts?

Well, he's not alone.

Owners of other canines with crazy tastes report: a dog in Kansas City ate his bowl. One in Fern Park, Fla., eats furniture. One in Tacoma, Wash., at a baseball glove and a small grove of saplings.

This intelligence has been duly reported in the column of Malcolm Epley of the Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, who started the story to begin with.

He wrote a column about the unlikely items eaten by his dog, Sycan, a Siberian husky-type animal known as a Samoyed. The Associated Press picked it up and the tale was retold all over the country. Result: mail from dog owners everywhere.

Epley wrote in a follow-up:

"All over the U.S.A. dogs are eating things dogs aren't supposed to eat."

"Dr. Carl McIntosh, Long

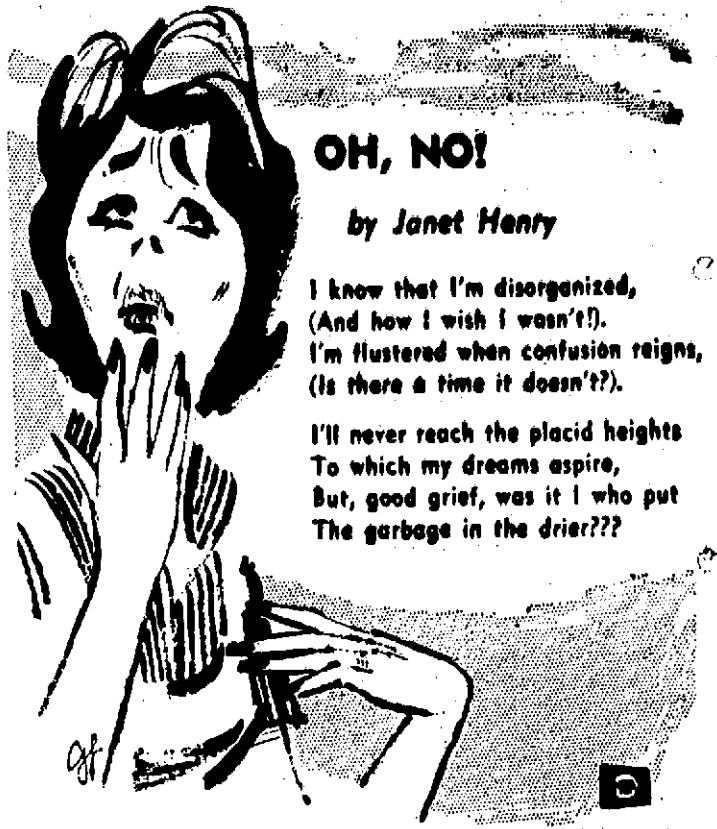

ter should know better. For her own good she must be taught self-control, otherwise, she'll come a cropper in later life. Her parents may be indulgent and you, her brother, long suffering, but strangers won't be. The world at large has no time to coddle misfits.

Dear Helen: My brother-in-law, who lives in another state, is soon to be married. He wants to know if he and his bride may stay with my husband and me until they find a suitable house in our town. Am I expected to write her, or she me? If I am, what should I say, never having met the girl? —E.C.

Dear E.C.: Etiquette is not within my province. However, your query carries with it the added problem of how to get along with your in-laws which is my concern. Write your future sister-in-law a gracious little note welcoming her into the family. Explain that your brother-in-law has expressed a desire to bring her to your home until they find suitable quarters, which delights you and your husband. The latch-string is out. But, be sure you want them before you commit yourself.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Today's special, "Guidance For Gracious Living."

'Freedom Rider' Asks Venue Change

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The first of the "Freedom Riders" to appear before a Mississippi jury went into county court today with a plea for a change of trial site on breach of peace charges.

Henry Thomas, 19, a Negro student from Howard College in Washington, D.C., was the first of 190 riders to go before a jury. Trial dates for the others extend into January.

Thomas, whose home is in St. Augustine, Fla., drew a conviction May 25 after he had refused to heed a Jackson police officer's order to move out of the white section of the Trailways bus terminal.

Municipal Judge James L. Spencer gave Thomas a $200 fine and a 60-day suspended sentence. Thomas posted a $500 appeal bond July 5 after serving more than half his fine at $3 per day.

Hinds County Judge Russell L. Moore said the case would be heard just as any other misdemeanor charge. Defense attorneys said they plan to exhaust all legal means in Thomas' defense, so he will have a full record for appeal — to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Beach State College president, sent a note of protest.

"Our dog, who reads your column regularly, remembered his youth with such nostalgia that he promptly chewed up my wife's glasses. I think newspaper columnists should use their influence constructively. It is a sort of a public trust."

Epley concluded: "It was nice of the press to send along the partially chewed up spectacles. I'll take them home for Sycan's evening meal."

Thinks Young Players Will Win Tourney

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—"One of these young, well conditioned players should win out. They play every day and have a terrific advantage in stamina."

Speaking was 33-year-old Glen Fowler, medalist in the 58th annual Men's Trans-Mississippi Amateur Golf Tournament. Despite his "advanced" years, Fowler threaded his way through the youth-studded field Tuesday for a 36-hole qualifying total of 141, one stroke less than par on his home course, Twin Hills Country Club. With a chilly 25-mile an hour north wind blowing across the 6,300-yard course, Fowler carded a 74, but his first-day 67 was strong enough to offset it.

Boat Death Up to Spa Grand Jury

NOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A Garland County Grand Jury must make the next move in the case against Melvin Hall, 14, of Mabelvale, who is charged with manslaughter in a fatal boating accident on Lake Ouachita Aug. 13.

Hall waived preliminary hearing Tuesday and was bound over to the grand jury by Municipal Judge W. R. Mitchell in connection with the death of 9-year-old John Henry Stroble of Pine Bluff. Mitchell continued for 30 days the case of Damon Hall, the youthful defendant's uncle, who was charged with violation of state boating regulations. Stroble was killed when the inner tube on which he was floating was struck by a motorboat operated by young Hall.

California Girl Knocks Out Champs

By JACK HEWINS
TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Like a girl stepping from rock to slippery rock across a rushing stream, 17-year-old Mary Lowell of Hayward, Calif., moved from champion to champion today in her ambitious attempt to add the USGA Women's Amateur title to the National Junior golf crown she won last week in Seattle.

She shocked the galleries and the other players Tuesday by eliminating JoAnne Gunderson of Seattle, the defending queen of American golf, 1-up on the 10th hole.

Today she met Judy Hoeltner of Seattle, National Collegiate champion, in the third round of match play. A second round this afternoon carries the survivors into the quarterfinals Thursday.

Left in the field were two former National Women's champions, the Canadian champion and Britain's No. 1 Curtis Cup player, The latter, Elizabeth Price of Farnham, England, was carried to 21 holes Tuesday by Doris Lullips of Belleville, Ill.

Mrs. Anne Quast Decker of Seattle, 1958 champion, played three-under-par golf to defeat Sharo Flados of Dubuque, Iowa, 4 and 2. Barbara McFetire of Wichita, Kan., the 1959 champion, ousted Sue Maxwell of Oklahoma City, 4 and 2. Canadian champion Janet McWha of Vancouver beat Mrs. Martin Fopp of Tacoma, 3 and 1.

But all these former champions must share the spotlight with a couple of Southern candidates — Judith Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., and 14-year-old Roberta Albers of Tampa, Fla. They tangled today. Miss Eller eliminated Andrea Cohn of Waterloo, Iowa, Tuesday. Miss Albers whipped Mrs. Henry Hulscher of Tacoma 4 and 3.

The writer, correspondent Vladimir Kuznetsov, said it seems West Berlin—not East Berlin—has become "a military police camp."

He said provocative military demonstrations were held in West Berlin after Johnson's arrival and commented that the 1,500 American reinforcements who arrived Sunday marched through the city to the tune of military bands.

Youth Vital to Arkansas, Says Melton

Quality education of our youth, development of our natural resources creating a good image of Arkansas and preservation of our democracy and way of life — were the principal ingredients of an inspiring address delivered here Tuesday by Marvin Melton, president of Arkansas C of C.

The meeting, sponsored by Hope Kiwanis Club, was attended by various representatives of other civic groups, city officials and business and professional people.

He said Arkansas' No. 1 challenge was to give our youth quality education because they are our greatest assets. He urged the consolidation of the state's 419 school districts in order that rural youth would have the same opportunity and same advantage of better equipped schools of the city and a wider range of subjects.

On development of natural resources, he dealt mainly with the state's many lakes and rivers that can be turned into recreational areas, as well as providing industrial water supplies for expanding manufacturing plants and new plants that would be located in Arkansas.

Wherever we go and wherever we meet, let's create a good image of Arkansas and its people. Let's tell them of our fine climate, our good soil, our recreational spots, our labor supply. Let's mix a little of that Texas spirit into our conversations. Actually, here in Arkansas, we apologize for the things which Texans brag about!

Mr. Melton brought his speech to a close by reviewing some of the great problems of the world today, and then stressed the need for intelligent leadership of tomorrow — which he said must come from our youth and quality education.

Cracked Window Delays V. P. Jet

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—A cracked window in the cockpit of his jet plane kept Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson in Shannon 45 minutes longer than planned today.

Hawaiians Make Mark in Baseball

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Somebody else may walk off with the championship this week but already the stars of the Little League World Series are a scrappy bunch of tiny Orientals from Hawaii.

"They're from Hilo and they love to win. 'I call them by go-go-go boys—they never quit fighting,'" says the team manager, Benjamin Inouye.

"We're the Cinderella team," adds the coach, Gary Matsumoto. "We should never beat the teams we do—but here we are."

It was Matsumoto's son, young Gary, whose excellent relief pitching and two-run single in the fifth contributed to an 8-5 victory Tuesday over Montreal, Canada.

The Hawaiians now go into the semifinals against the strong team from El Cajon, Calif., which upset defending champion Levittown, Pa., 1-0 on a seventh-inning home run by Todd Lieber.

They play Thursday along with survivors of today's two games sending Terre Haute, Ind., against El Campo, Tex., and Monterey, Ariz., against a team from the rival surpasses fear gas as a riot control agent.

Put 18 Children Under One Roof

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—A Navy widower with 10 children and a widow with eight of her own, who met a month ago, have set a wedding date of Sept. 9 in the Carmel Mission on the central California coast.

The couple are Francis Louis Beardsley, a Navy chief warrant officer, and Helen North, 31, of San Leandro. Beardsley and his children live in Carmel. He is stationed at the Navy postgraduate school in Monterey.

Mrs. North said a relative told her of Beardsley's loss. Her husband had died at about the same time. She began a correspondence with Beardsley which culminated in a dinner date about a month ago. He gave her a diamond ring a week later.

Mrs. North said all 18 children "think it's wonderful."

They range in age from her Teresa, 1, to his Michael, 17.

Carpenters are doubling the size of Beardsley's Carmel home, which has only five rooms and three baths.

President's Father Has Lovely Caddy

By GUY RIFFET

CANNES, France (AP)—When President Kennedy's golf-loving father, Joseph P. Kennedy, strolls off the tee at his favorite Riviera course, most eyes stay glued to his caddy.

She is Francoise Pellegrino, 22, a dark-eyed blonde.

The girl and the millionaire onetime U.S. ambassador to Britain have become fast friends during the five years Francoise has been pulling his golf cart around exclusive Biol Course.

"I call him 'Joe,' and he calls me 'Francoise,'" she said. "I talk to him as I would my father."

Francoise is perhaps the first person on the Riviera to know when Kennedy is coming for a holiday because "he writes me two months before so I'll be available to caddy."

The pert, pug-nosed blonde describes the head of clan Kennedy as "a wonderful man — really down to earth."

"Monsieur Kennedy is very generous," she said. "Every Christmas he sends me a gift and on my birthday, I get a case of champagne. I invite the neighbors in and we drink to his health."

Francoise's father was a bricklayer. Her golf course career began when her parents died in 1954 and she had to help support a younger brother and two infant sisters.

Kennedy usually plays in a morning twosome with Sean Hedegard, retired Danish industrialist. Kennedy's wife, Rose, also an avid golfer, plays in the afternoon because — as Francoise puts it — "Monsieur Kennedy plays to well for her." Francoise said her boss shots in the low 70s "steady as a clock."

Chapter II

At dinner on Monday following his elevation to the post of Chairman of the Ute Committee, Stalcup ate roast beef with his sleek, readheaded wife, she of the new compact car, and his son, Mickey, 17, shifty, six feet, and slouchy.

Since Mickey had spent the weekend with Turk Hruska, and Stalcup had been somewhat busy himself, this was Stalcup's first chance to cast a few gems concerning loud exhaust pipes.

"What did the contractor say about the bridge yesterday, dear?" Marcia asked suddenly. "I hope he was mistaken about his first estimate."

The roast beef went bad in Stalcup's mouth. "That bandit! He said it would cost more than he first thought."

"Everything is going up," Marcia sighed. "Mickey, stop pushing food on your fork with your finger."

"Gripe, gripe," Mickey said. "We have to have the bridge."

Marcia said, "What good is the cabin without it?"

"You can ford the river in a jeep," Mickey said, "if somebody around here would buy one. What's for dessert?"

"I'll not drive the state officers of the PBOG across that river in a jeep!" Marcia said.

"Oh!" said Stalcup. "So that's part of the state convention here next month?"

"Why yes. We're going to have a barbecue for the officers and a few guests on the second afternoon. You will have the bridge fixed by then?"

"What's for dessert?" Mickey asked.

"Ice cream. You will have the bridge fixed by then?"

Stalcup shook his head. "It's going to cost plenty. I'm debating what to do."

The day before, thinking to negotiate a little, Stalcup had met Lonnie Pope on the West Fork, where the Stalcup cabin sat in the pines across the river near an old gold mill that had burned in 1920.

"I been thinking," Pope said, "it wouldn't be fair and honest to rebuild this here thing without putting in new stringers all the way." The contractor shook his head like a fair and honest man.

"There's nothing wrong with those stringers since I can remember. For 15 years I've driven—"

"That's it exactly, Mr. Stalcup. Timber gets old and tired, like people." With great agility Pope leaped down for an extreme close up. He shook his head sadly. He peered at the abutment and said, "Uh, uh!" For all the world he was a dead ringer for one of Hap py Holzappel's well trained men- chies who could make the first $20 merely by lifting a hod and being deeply offended by what he saw, even if he had carbon in his eye and saw no more than the radiator cap.

"What's wrong now?" Stalcup asked nervously.

"Them rocks, stacked up like loose straw. It's a wonder to me, Mr. Stalcup, there ain't been a bad accident here, a real bad accident."

"The abutment has always been that way."

"You've got comprehensive, liability — all that stuff you sold me?" Pope hit a deck plank with his heel and looked toward the middle of the bridge, and Stalcup almost expected to see the structure collapse.

"I don't think it's quite that bad."

"You take a heavy car, like most of your friends drive, Mr. Stalcup. Say, a big load of folks coming up to visit you . . . Whew!"

You could see the mangled bodies bobbing merrily off in the swift waters of the West Fork.

"How much now?"

"I'll have to figure a little." Pope pulled out a tiny notebook. He paced out to the pier in the middle, leaned over to look down, shook his head. He wrote. He went to the south side of the river. He wrote again. When he returned he said, "I'm taking a chance by saying $2,250."

Stalcup groaned. "The biggest chance you'd be taking would be collecting your money."

And now it was time to speak to Mickey about his pipes. All at once Stalcup realized that he was alone at the table with Marcia. He heard the front door closing. "Hey!" he shouted, leaping up. "Mickey!" He charged through the living room in hot pursuit.

With his Levis hanging precariously low on his hips, Mickey was going rapidly toward his car. Stalcup hailed him from the front door. "I want to see you a minute."

"What for? I'm in a hurry."

"So I see. Come back here."

"What for?"

"You'll upset his stomach," Marcia warned.

"His stomach! What about mine?"

"You're the one that's shouting."

"I was not shouting! I was—"

Stalcup saw that Mickey was taking advantage of the diversion and was almost to his car. "Come back here! I want to talk to you about those exhaust pipes."

"No sweat, Pop, I fixed 'em yesterday at Turk's."

Stalcup looked at his watch. Ten minutes late already. He charged to his bedroom to change shirts. "You'll have to run me down, Marcia."

"I thought you got new tires yesterday."

"I did. Today Pinkwater convinced me that I needed two more. He's putting them on now."

"Mickey will run you down," Marcia said. She looked at her son. About two feet of him was on the sofa, while the rest extended to the floor.

"Hey!" Stalcup said, ploughing to a stop, "where's your car, Marcia?"
